INDIA- EU SUMMIT 2020 : KEY TAKEAWAYS

K. R. Sudhaman

At a time when India and many other countries are struggling to revive the economy in the face of corona virus lockdown, the India-European Union Summit comes as a boon with trade and investment being the focus of the discussion to kick-start growth.

The 15th India -EU Summit is "extremely fruitful," Prime Minister Narendra Modi said while participating in the virtual summit. This assumes significance as European Union is among India's largest economic partner with investment topping over $91 billion cumulatively.

The discussions focused on ways to fight the menace of COVID 19 pandemic, multilateralism, trade and investment. The European Union was represented by European Council President Charles Michel of Belgium and European Commission President Ursula von der Leyen, a German politician.

The Summit was held for the first time in virtual format and highlighted the importance India attached to working together with EU for mutual benefits. This came at a time friction caused by expansionist tendencies of China along the Indian borders. United States, Japan and European Union are among the international communities, which have disapproved the Chinese moves along the Indian borders in Ladakh.

Soon after the Summit, PM Modi tweeted, "I interacted on a variety of subjects including the COVID-19 situation, multilateralism, environment, trade, investment, digital economy and more." He said "The future belongs to technology. It is important to work together to further the usage of latest technology for the benefit of our people."

A free trade deal that India and the European Union have been planning since 2007 is widely expected to gain momentum following the Summit even though no deadline is set for its conclusion. It is called the Bilateral Trade and Investment Agreement.

After the Summit Shri Vikas Swarup,

Secretary (West), Ministry of External Affairs said, "There is no time frame set for the conclusion of the Bilateral Trade and Investment Agreement (BTIA) but both sides have agreed that the two ministers mandated to take the discussions forward and should meet as early as possible."

He added "EU is our largest trading partner for goods with trade exceeding $100 billion. We also have a large services trade of approximately $40 billion".

The 15th Summit originally scheduled on March 13, was postponed owing to the pandemic Covid. But the virtual meeting assumes significance as it is the first multilateral Summit since Sino-Indian stand-off in early May and also the first since the outbreak of Covid. The key European powers, France and Germany backed the Indian position during the stand-off.

Political Analysts feel that such a global cooperation and solidarity to protect lives, to mitigate the socio-economic consequences and to strengthen

CLINICAL PSYCHOLOGY : CAREER PATH, JOB PROSPECTS

Dr. A.S.Ninawe

Psychotic disorders are a group of illnesses that affect the human mind. These illnesses alter a person's ability to think clearly, make good judgments, respond emotionally, communicate effectively, understand reality and behave appropriately. In India, mental illnesses constitute one-sixth of all health-related disorders and is accounted for nearly 15% of the global mental, neurological and substance abuse disorder burden. About 1% of the World's population has psychotic disorders and symptoms for most psychotic disorders often appear when an individual is in their late teens to 30's. Psychotic disorders affect both men and women equally. These symptoms disrupt normal life and therefore there is need to handle psychotic issues with medical interventions, therapy and early identification of the disorder. A World Health Organisation (WHO) study predicted that by 2020, roughly 20% of India will suffer from various mental illnesses that need serious attention by mental health professionals who deals with clinical psychology.

Clinical psychology is one of the largest specialty areas within psychology. It deals with the assessment, diagnosis, treatment, and prevention of mental disorders. Some of these specialty areas include child mental health, adult mental health, learning disabilities, emotional disturbances, substance abuse, geriatrics, and health psychology. Psychologists trained to provide clinical services work in research, education, training and health sectors. The possibilities for a career as a health service psychologist are vast and varied. Clinical Psychologists often work in hospitals, private practice or academic settings to treat complex human problems. Clinicians are trained in a range of techniques and theoretical approaches. Some specialize in treating certain psychological disorders while others work with clients suffering from a wide variety of problems. Clinical Psychologists assess and treat people with psychological problems. They may act as therapists for people who are experiencing normal psychological crises, for individuals suffering from chronic psychiatric disorders. Some Clinical Psychologists are generalists who work with a wide variety of population, while others work with specific groups such as children, the elderly, or those with specific disorders. Clinical Psychologists also treat psychiatric disorders such as schizophrenia and depression.

Education & Training

To become a psychologist and a clinical practitioner, one is required to clear the 10+2 exam preferably with Psychology as one of the subjects. Complete a Bachelor degree in Psychology, the curriculum of which focuses on personality development, psychotherapy, stress management and neuro-psychology. A doctorate is required to teach and practice with a bachelor's and/or master's degree in clinical psychology. Courses may include: human development, basic clinical and counseling skills, evidence-based practice, diagnosis and treatment plans, abnormal psychology, family systems, lifespan psychology, sociology, behavioral neuroscience, statistics, human diversity, research methodologies, psychological interventions, etc. Specialization at the postgraduate level, where one can get an M.A. or M.Sc. either in Psychology, Social Work, or Counseling. Although there are several educational paths to become a clinical psychologist, most begin with a bachelor's degree. In psychology, it is common to choose a different major subject possibly with a minor in psychology. A graduate degree comes next, with some students choosing to stop at the master's level, and others continuing to a terminal degree either a Ph.D. or Psy.D. Further specialization at the doctoral level is available as well with Ph.D. or M.Phil. award. The postgraduate and doctoral programs focus their studies for pursuing either a research or teaching job, whereas the graduate degree bachelor's degree, programs are 3 years long duration, postgraduate Master's degree programs are 2 years and Doctoral (M.Phil. or Ph.D.) programs are 3 years long and can extend further depending on the research and studies involved.

Clinical Psychologist also begins with a bachelor's degree in psychology or a related field. Some choose to earn their bachelor's degree in a field such as marketing or business, and add psychology as their minor. After obtaining the bachelor's degree, students generally go for a master's or doctoral degree. One of the main advantages of having an advanced degree (master's and/or doctorate) in clinical psychology is that it opens up the doors of different psychological industries. For instance, with a doctorate in clinical psychology, one could be a college professor, researcher, psychologist in any field. Students may choose from a variety of regular or online degree programs in each of the levels of education.

Clinical Psychologists promote healthy lifestyles that discourage unhealthy behavior and reduce illness and the skills to navigate the human mind and offer solutions to those in need. A clinical specialist is supposed to have good communication skill, active listening, social perception, critical thinking, high-order analysis, teaching and advocacy introducing new or complex concepts to patients or colleagues. Clinical researchers also require skill in advanced science and mathematics to interpret statistical and scientific data. Certain jobs in clinical psychology analytical skills, pay more with the expertise required in this specialized area. Clinical psychologist are also involved in working with people occupational therapist, genetic, counselor, rehabilitation counselor, substance abuse and behavioral disorder counselor, marriage and family therapist, mental health counselor etc. Aspirants who have successfully competed their training in psychology can make their mark and pursue a career as a psychologist. A Clinical Psychologist can work as a behavioral health psychologist, typically with clients in individual and group settings to help them overcome behavioral difficulties like addiction. INDIA-EU SUMMIT 2020 ...

preparedness and response capacities is a welcome development at this difficult situation.

The Summit also provided opportunities to promote effective multilateralism and a rule-based multilateral order, with the United Nations (UN) and the World Trade Organisation (WTO) at its core. It also strengthened the India-EU Strategic Partnership based on shared principles and values of democracy, freedom, rule of law, and respect for human rights, aiming at delivering concrete benefits for the people in the EU and India.

Cooperation in security, climate, environment, trade and investment, digital economy and connectivity also figured prominently in the discussions. Germany, currently holding EU Presidency, is optimistic that mechanisms created the Summit will enable it to conclude trade and investment pacts opening a new era of business partnership between the two sides.

A Diplomatic source said, as the biggest economy of Europe, Germany will give impetus to the recent decisions to create mechanisms to push India-EU trade and investment deals. The two sides will hold stock taking.

At the Summit, it was also decided to establish a High-Level Dialogue at ministerial level to provide political guidance to the bilateral trade and investment relation and continue the dialogue on a regular basis.

Germany will be critical to expansion of India's forays into Europe this year and beyond. On expansion of G-7 to G-10/11, view is emerging on the necessity to strengthen various multilateral bodies and multilateralism. These include UN, WTO and WHO.

Though negotiations for a trade and investment pact between the two regions have not moved forward for years over differences in securing market access and enabling the free movement of professionals, it is expected to get a boost.

Despite no major changes in these positions on the part of India and the EU - both Delhi and Brussels are keen to ease their dependency on China's supply chains and prefer an international order based on multilateralism. This common interest is expected to put the negotiations on a fast track.

With both sides believing in economic sovereignty and strategic autonomy as vital elements of their economic and security policy agenda, a fresh impetus to restart India-EU FTA talks is widely expected now following the Summit.

The 15th India-EU virtual Summit gains importance as it was attended by Prime Minister Modi, Charles Michel, president of the European Council, and Ursula von der Leyen, president of the European Commission. The European Council shapes the political direction and policy priorities of the EU and the European Commission is the EU's executive branch.

The key takeaways are that India and the EU announced a five-year roadmap to build a wider strategic partnership. This roadmap envisages a high-level dialogue to address long-standing trade irritants that have come in the way of the 27-member union signing an FTA with India. Discussions on ease of doing business, i.e., improving the conditions for doing business for traders and investors as well as supply chain linkages will form part of the dialogue.

Shri. Swarup said the two sides are hoping to restart trade talks in the next few months. Prime Minister Modi invited European companies to invest in India, given the efforts made by his government to improve ease of doing business, regulatory environment and its aim to integrate the country with global value chains.

A joint declaration at the end of the virtual Summit committed to achieving resource efficiency by working towards a circular economic model. Such a model envisions the reduction in primary resource consumption and enhancing the use of secondary raw materials.

A post COVID-19 economic recovery can potentially accelerate this transition to sustainable patterns of economic growth and development. That in turn will open up greater opportunities for bilateral trade and investment.

Another frontier for future trade and investment will be the digital economy - India values the EU states as a source of high-tech, including artificial intelligence and 5G, besides the innovation and investment needed to expand the country's infrastructure, tackle climate change, and upgrade cities with smart architecture.

Since COVID-19 has pushed the shift towards a digital economy with more urgency, the new normal will require massive and secure technology upgrade. This is going to necessitate a closer partnership between India and the EU as new priorities may reset the tone of future trade negotiations.

The EU launched talks with India to establish a broad-based free trade agreement (FTA) in 2007 but negotiations got stuck over after not much significant progress was made in Bilateral Trade and Investment Agreement (BTIA), which broke down in 2013. Talks resumed at a technical level in October 2017 but that too did not make headway. Major sticking points have been over tariffs on automobiles, wines and spirits and the restrictions on free movement of professionals. New Delhi seeks to protect the extensively lobbied interests of its domestic players in the goods trade but wants greater relaxations for India's services exports.

India had previously asked for a smaller trade agreement with the EU before negotiating a wider FTA. The EU, on the other hand, desires a full-fledged trade agreement and slashing tariffs on 90 percent of the goods traded.

The US-China trade war, a resurgent China, and a pandemic contributed to shifting of ground realities for negotiators on both sides. The world's dependency on China's highly integrated supply chain suffered during the initial days of the pandemic but as China stabilized, other concerns came to the fore. Meanwhile, foreign firms based in China were already expanding or relocating operations to lower cost regions, with countries in Southeast Asia proving early winners. Regardless, India has a lot to offer EU businesses in terms of manufacturing and sourcing as well as cheap and surplus labor

India aspires to be a manufacturing hub and integrate into the global supply chain, which requires extensive foreign investment and an open market.

'Atma Nirbhar' mean reducing imports of those items which can be made locally in a phased manner. This is what every country adopts and India more importantly needed to create a lot of new jobs every year to provide livelihood to its large young population.

With increased tension on India's border with China, Modi government aims to diversify FDI sources and this India-EU Summit provided a useful platform. EU manufacturers and businesses in technology and renewables could tap into the emerging priorities in the Indian economy.

Some Technical Barriers to Trade (TBT), Sanitary and Phyto-Sanitary (SPS) measures, deviation from international standards and agreements need some tweaking in India.

Geopolitical factors, surplus labor, Digital India ambitions are factors that favorably impact India-EU trade and investment talks and these need to be pursued vigorously.

Trade in goods between India and the EU increased by 72 percent over the last decade. The EU is India's largest trading partner and last year accounted for trade in goods worth €80 billion (US$91.07 billion) or 11.1 percent of total Indian trade - on par with the US and ahead of China (10.7 percent). For Indian exports, the EU is its second largest destination (over 14 percent of total Indian exports) after the US. India is the EU's 10th largest trading partner, accounting for 1.9 percent of the EU's total trade in goods in 2019, well behind the US (15.2 percent), China (13.8 percent), and the UK (12.6 percent).

Trade in services between the EU and India is steadily rising, going from €22.3 billion (US$25.38 billion) in 2015 to €29.6 billion (US$33.69 billion) in 2018. The EU's share in foreign investment inflows to India also more than doubled from eight percent to 18 percent in the last 10 years. Nevertheless, foreign direct investment (FDI) from the EU to India amounted to just €68 billion (US$77.41 billion) in 2018, much below its FDI stocks in China (€175 billion or US$199.22 billion) and Brazil (€312 billion or US$355.19 billion). Around 6,000 European companies, involved in a broad range of sectors, have their presence in India, generating 1.7 million direct jobs and indirectly providing 5 million jobs.

Indian companies invested just over €50 billion (US$56.92 billion) in Europe since 200.

In light of this statistics, the Summit could not have come at a more appropriate time as it provided an opportunity to convert present economic and health challenges into opportunity for both India and the European Union.

Summing up the outcome of the Summit, Shri. Swarup Said, "The India-EU Strategic Partnership: Roadmap to 2025" summarises the framework of our dialogue and cooperation covering wide-ranging areas including foreign and security policy, trade and investment, modernisation, sustainable development, research and innovation, education and exchange of scholars, migration and mobility, and global governance.

Discussions were also held on the India-European Atomic Energy Community Agreement on research and development cooperation in the peaceful uses of nuclear energy to enable collaboration between the Department of Atomic Energy and EURATOM on issues such as civil applications of atomic energy in areas such as (agriculture, healthcare, industry), radioactive waste management, fusion, nuclear safety and security.

Shri Swarup Said, Renewal of Science and Technology Cooperation Agreement for another five years will enable the continuation of scientific projects and research exchanges in areas such as biotechnology, clean energy, e-mobility, energy efficiency, marine sciences, etc.".

The joint declaration on resource efficiency and circular economy will enable dialogue and cooperation in areas such as policy and regulations, exchange of best practices and capacities and technical exchanges in areas such as energy efficiency, waste management, recycling, circular business models and in areas such as mobility, ICT, mobility, construction, food and textiles sector.

■ COVAXIN Human Trial Begins

Human trials for the indigenously developed COVAXIN have begun at the All India Institute of Medical Sciences (AIIMS) Delhi. After the registration procedure and blood sample tests of the health volunteers, the vaccine will be administered to 100 healthy individuals in the first phase. In the second phase, 750 people will be selected between 12 to 65 years of age for the human trials. Meanwhile, India and Israel have jointly developed an ultra rapid testing kit for COVID-19 that can generate preliminary COVID results within 30 seconds. The testing kit which has proven its efficacy in lab results will now be subjected to broader trials. Principal Scientific Adviser to Government of India, Professor K Vijay Raghavan informed that Indian DRDO scientists along with Defence Research Wing of Israel have been working together on the COVID testing kit.

■ Permanent Commission for Women in Indian Army

Defence Ministry has issued the formal Government Sanction Letter for grant of Permanent Commission (PC) to Women Officers in the Indian Army. This will pave the way for empowering Women Officers to shoulder larger roles in the organisation. The order specifies grant of PC to Short Service Commissioned (SSC) Women Officers in all ten streams of the Indian Army namely, Army Air Defence (AAD), Signals, Engineers, Army Aviation, Electronics and Mechanical Engineers (EME), Army Service Corps (ASC), Army Ordnance Corps (AOC), and Intelligence Corps in addition to the existing streams of Judge and Advocate General (JAG) and Army Educational Corps (AEC).

■ Restrictions on Public Procurement from Neighbouring Countries

Government has imposed restrictions on public procurement from the countries which share a land border with India to strengthen the defence and national security. The Department of Expenditure in a detailed Order said the Government has amended the General Financial Rules 2017 to enable imposition of restrictions on bidders from countries which share a land border with India on grounds of defence of India, or matters directly or indirectly related thereto including national security. As per the order, any bidder from such countries sharing a land border with India will be eligible to bid in any procurement whether of goods, services including consultancy services and non-consultancy services or works including turnkey projects only if the bidder is registered with the competent authority. The competent authority for registration will be the registration committee constituted by the Department for Promotion of Industry and Internal Trade. Political clearance from the External Affairs Ministry and security clearance from the Home Ministry will also be mandatory.

■ UNGA to be held in Virtual Format

Heads of state and government will not be physically attending the annual United Nations General Assembly session in September due to a coronavirus pandemic and the high-level session goes virtual for the first time in the UN's 75-year history. World leaders will submit pre-recorded video statements the 193-member organisation has decided. The landmark 75th session of the UN General Assembly will begin on September 15. The General Debate is held at the beginning of each session of the General Assembly and usually runs for over a week when leaders and ministers from the 193 UN member states address the world from the iconic lectern in the General Assembly hall. The General Assembly meeting to commemorate the 75th anniversary of the United Nations will take place on September 21 and the Declaration will be formally adopted at the meeting. The General Debate of the 75th session of the Assembly will commence from September 22. Along with the General Debate and 75th anniversary commemoration, key sessions will also be held virtually at the UN, the Assembly decided.

■ India, key pillar of US foreign policy

United States Secretary of State Mike Pompeo has said that New Delhi is an important partner and a key pillar of President Donald Trump's foreign policy. In his virtual keynote address to the annual 'India Ideas Summit' of the US India Business Council (USIBC), Mr Pompeo described India as one of the few trusted like-minded countries and said, India is a rising US defense and security partner in the Indo-Pacific and also at the global level. He said, the United States, desires a new age of ambition in its relationship with India. Mr. Pompeo said, the US has invited Prime Minister Narendra Modi to the next G-7 meeting to be hosted by President Trump. Meanwhile, Navies from the US, India, Australia, Japan and France have been deepening their mutual cooperation in the Indo-Pacific region in view of China's growing attempt to expand military influence in the resource-rich region. On 20 July, a US Navy carrier strike group led by nuclear-powered aircraft carrier USS Nimitz carried out a military drill with a fleet of Indian warships off the coast of Andaman and Nicobar Islands.

■ US Closes Chinese Consulate in Houston

The United States has ordered the closure of the Chinese Consulate in Houston. In a statement, US State Department Spokesperson Morgan Ortagus said, the closure was due to unfair trade practices, theft of American jobs, and other egregious behavior. She also said that the closure was necessary to protect American's intellectual property and private information. According to Houston media reports, fire was reported from the Chinese Consulate in Houston after the closure of Chinese consulate in the city. The move comes close on the heels of the claims by the US Justice Department that China-aided hackers stole intellectual property rights worth millions of dollars from COVID-19 vaccine. It has also been alleged that they stole trade secrets from companies across the world. The US and China have been engaged in a row over the origin of COVID-19 in China, trade ties and Hong Kong.
