TRANSFORMING AGRICULTURE INTO A SUSTAINABLE ENTERPRISE

EN Team

Agriculture sector plays a very important role in both economic development and nation building. India is globally at the forefront of development of agriculture. The goal is to achieve doubling of exports by 2022. However, more than 86% of farmers in the country are small and marginal. There is a need to facilitate our farmers with access to improved technology, credit, better input and more markets to incentivize them to produce better quality commodities. For this, aggregation of small, marginal and landless farmers into FPOs will help enhance economic strength and market linkages of farmers for enhancing their income. Keeping this in mind, the Government of India has launched a new Central Sector Scheme titled "Formation and Promotion of 10,000 Farmer Produce Organizations (FPOs)" with a clear strategy and committed resources to form and promote 10,000 new FPOs in the country with budgetary provision of Rs 6965 crore.

FPOs are to be developed in produce-clusters wherein agricultural and horticultural products are grown / cultivated for leveraging economies of scale and improving market access for members. "One District One Product" clusters are being developed to promote specialization and better processing, marketing, branding and export. Under this Central Sector Scheme with funding from Government of India, formation & promotion of FPOs are to be done through the Implementing Agencies (IAs). Presently nine agencies have been finalized for formation and promotion of FPOs viz. Small Farmers Agri-Business

Consortium (SFAC), National Cooperative Development Corporation (NCDC), National Bank for Agriculture and Rural Development (NABARD), National Agricultural Cooperative Marketing Federation of India (NAFED), North Eastern Regional Agricultural Marketing Corporation Limited (NERAMAC), Tamil Nadu-Small Farmers Agri-Business Consortium (TN-SFAC), Small Farmers Agri-Business Consortium, Haryana

(SFACH), Watershed Development Department (WDD)- Karnataka & Foundation for Development of Rural Value Chains (FDRVC)- Ministry of Rural Development (MoRD).

Implementing Agencies (IAs) will engage Cluster Based Business Organizations (CBBOs) to aggregate, register & provide professional

DESIGN: A CAREER FOR CREATIVE MINDS

Arti S

Of the few career fields which somehow have not received enough attention or have been underrated, one is design. Design is a career suitable for those who want to use their creativity to the fullest and have an orientation towards exploring and experimenting. Design is everywhere around us. No physical product or structure can be properly made without having thought of its design. This we can find by looking at mobile phones, furniture, books, clothing and buildings big or small. But use of design is not limited to only these as we'll see later in this article.

It is interesting to note that among many other policies the country also has a National Design Policy which is based on the strategic role of design in promoting national and industrial competitiveness. The policy recognizes that value addition through innovations in designs can play a pivotal role in enhancing the competitiveness of both manufacturing and service industries. The policy has been developed after a consultative process with industry, designers and other stakeholders. This policy is focused on strengthening quality design education at different levels, encouraging use of designs by small scale and cottage industries and crafts, facilitating active involvement of industry and designers in the development of the design profession, branding and positioning of Indian design within India and overseas, enhancing design and design service exports, and creating an enabling environment that recognizes and rewards original designs. With launch of 'Make in India' campaign, the policy assumes enhanced significance.

Understanding Design

We may define design as the process of envisioning and planning the creation of different objects, systems, buildings, vehicles etc. Design is largely user centric. This means that users are at the heart of any design. Design is about creating solution for people to address a need or a problem.

Design carries a broad concept and its meaning may vary from one field to another. Many of us relate design with making things look good. But this is limiting the scope and utility of design. Design is not about making things just for the sake of it. As a matter of fact design doesn't focus purely on aesthetics, nor is it only about glamorizing things. Its main focus is making the users' interaction and experience with the product, service and related environment easy, fulfilling and smooth.

A question is often raised whether design should be considered an art or a science. There is no straight forward answer to it as design takes inputs from both. As we all know art is about creating something that expresses the artist's vision, ideas and feelings. Designers express their feelings and leave impression through their work but their prime objective is not this though they use art to craft something. Design uses the problem solving aspect of science and is primarily involved with addressing a particular need. What Steve Jobs had said, beautifully sums it up. "Design is not just what it looks like and feels like. Design is how it works."

How Design works

Problems are best solved when approached in a comprehensive and systemic way. The goal of this process is to organize the work to turn ideas into concrete solutions. Designers do research and collect information about the problem they are considering such as - who are the people facing this problem and why? What data is available and what more we need to work on the solution? From this research, they make a general hypothesis and identify the specific points that should be part of the answer. Then with these key aspects in mind it's time to experiment different solutions and iterate. This last part is about learning from what works and what doesn't, to adapt the solution to fit the users' need best.

In many cases design becomes so obvious that we don't even notice its presence. This is particularly true in interaction design. Navigating a user interface should feel natural and unhindered. The user should be able to understand its rules and the meaning of its elements almost immediately. The user is guided by an invisible hand made of colours, shapes, contrast, repetitions.

Various Disciplines of Design: Of the various disciplines of design, some are described below-

Product design: Product design works on product specifications to make it match with clients and users' requirements. Product designers look into the matters of shape, size, colour and dimension.

Fashion design: The size of fashion industry is huge and fashion designers work in this industry to create and design different kinds of products from clothes to accessories. They study fashion trends to meet the demand and in many cases create things which later becomes fashion.

Footwear design: Footwear designing can be considered an aspect of fashion and accessories design. A footwear designer develops designs for different types of footwear, researching design ideas, understanding different materials and their usage, communicating with customers and suppliers, sketching, working closely with the design team, analysing requirements as per the need of the market, and developing strategies for all products.

Textile design: Textile Designing is a creative process by which different kinds of clothing is prepared by methods of weaving threads or yarns and also by using dyeing, embroidery and printing methods. Textile designers create products to be used for various purposes such as clothing for dresses, on furniture, towels, carpets, rugs, drapes, wallpapers, gifting materials and other.

Graphic design: A book cover and how the pages of book look is one of the examples of graphic design. This form of design uses visuals, typography and page layout among other things. These days electronic programmes and softwares are widely used in design of graphics.

Interior design: Choice of colours, furnishing, spacing inside a house, building, office, hotel etc. comes under interior design. An aesthetic feel can be created with help of such design which also adds value by better look of the place and enriching experience in use of the interior.

Landscape design: Landscape design involves a wide variety of elements to achieve functional and attractive spaces for outdoor living. Professional landscape designers offer a broad range of planning and design services for variety of client needs. Well-executed landscape design increases the living experience and also the actual square footage of valuable usable space.

Ceramic design: Ceramic covers a variety of materials like porcelain and terracotta and has been one of the most ancient industries on the earth. Ceramic items are created from clay mixed with water, shaped and fired at high temperatures. Ceramics designers work with clay, porcelain, bone china and stoneware to design and create pottery items, sculptures, tiles and flooring, tableware and cookware.

Industrial design: Creating and developing improved machinery to bring efficiency in industrial set ups is covered under this discipline of designing. Designing of home appliances like washing machines, refrigerators etc is part of this discipline of design.

Premier Institutes for Design Education: Following are the prestigious institutes offering design courses in our country:

National Institute of Design: Situated at Ahmedabad this institute was established to pioneer design education in the country, and has also a global reputation. TRANSFORMING AGRICULTURE INTO A SUSTAINABLE ENTERPRISE handholding support to each FPO for a period of 5 years. These organizations have been empanelled & engaged by Implementing Agencies (IAs). CBOs will be the platform for an end to end knowledge for all issues related to FPO promotion.

During 2020-21, a total of 2200 FPO produce-clusters have been identified for formation of FPOs which also include specialized FPO produce clusters such as 100 FPOs for Organic, 100 FPOs for Oil seeds etc. Of these, 369 FPOs are targeted during the current year for formation in 115 aspirational districts in the country.

NAFED would form the specialized FPOs which should necessarily be forwardly linked to the market, agri-value chain, etc. NAFED will provide market and value chain linkages to the FPOs formed by other Implementing Agencies. NAFED has formed & registered 05 Honey FPOs during the current year in Uttar Pradesh, Madhya Pradesh, Rajasthan, Bihar and West Bengal.

FPOs will be provided financial assistance upto Rs 18.00 lakh per FPO for a period of three years. In addition to this, provision has been made for matching equity grant upto Rs. 2,000 per farmer member of FPO with a limit of Rs. 15 lakh per FPO and a credit guarantee facility upto Rs. 2 crore of project loan per FPO from eligible lending institution to ensure institutional credit accessibility to FPOs.

At district level, a District Level Monitoring Committee (D-MC) is constituted under the Chairmanship of District Collector/CEO Zilla Parishad with representatives of different related departments and experts for overall coordination and monitoring the implementation of scheme in the district including the suggestion for potential produce cluster and development.

At the National level, National Project Management Agency (NPMA) as a professional organization has been engaged to provide overall project guidance, coordination, compilation of information relating to FPOs, maintenance of MIS and monitoring purpose.

There are well defined training structures in the scheme and the institutions like Bankers Institute of Rural Development (BIRD), Lucknow and Laxmanrao Inamdar National Academy for Co-operative Research & Development (LINAC), Gurugram have been chosen as the lead training institutes for capacity development and trainings of FPOs. Training and skill development modules have been developed to further strengthen the FPOs.

Formation and promotion of FPOs is the first step for converting Krishi into AtmanirbharKrishi. This will enhance cost effective production and productivity and higher net incomes to the members of the FPO. Also improve rural economy and create job opportunities for rural youths in villages itself. This is the major step towards improving farmers' income substantially.

Further, investigations carried out under All India Coordinated Research Project on Long Term Fertilizer Experiments over five decades at two sites have indicated that continuous use of nitrogenous fertilizer alone had deleterious effects on soil health and crop productivity showing deficiencies of other major and micro-nutrients. Even with recommended doses of NPK and more, deficiency of micro and secondary nutrients has become yield limiting factors over the years. Deficient nutrients may also affect plant growth and cause plant physiological disorders. There is also possibility of nitrate contamination in groundwater above the permissible limit of 10 mg NO₃-N /L due to excessive/over-use of nitrogenous fertilizers, particularly in light textured soils that has consequences on human/animal health if used for drinking purposes. ICAR recommends soil-test based balanced and integrated nutrient management through conjunctive use of both inorganic and organic sources of plant nutrients to reduce the use of chemical fertilizers, preventing deterioration of soil health, environment and contamination of groundwater in addition, split application and placement of fertilizers, use of slow releasing N-fertilizers and nitrification inhibitors, growing leguminous crops and use of Resource Conservation Technologies (RCTs) are also advocated.

As per the latest information available, the consumptions of chemical fertilizers in the country during 2017-18, 2018-19, 2019-20 and 2020-21 (upto Kharif 2020) are 64.59, 56.21, 58.88 and 33.85 million tonnes of Fertilizer products (Urea, Di-Ammonium Phosphate (DAP), Muriate of Potash (MOP), Complexes and Single Super Phosphate (SSP), respectively).

The Government has launched a National Mission on Soil Health Card to promote soil test based balanced and judicious fertilizer application in the country. Similarly, organic farming is being promoted under Paramparagat Krishi Vikas Yojana (PKVY) and Mission Organic Value Chain Development for North East Region (MOVCD-NER) in the country. Training and demonstrations are organized through ICAR institutions including Krishi Vigyan Kendras (KVKs) and agricultural universities to educate farmers on all these aspects.

With respect to climate change, one can see a rise in all India mean temperature and increased frequency of extreme rainfall events in the last three decades. This causes fluctuation in production of major crops in different years.

Impact of climate change on Indian agriculture was studied under National Innovations in Climate Resilient Agriculture (NICRA). Rainfed rice yields in India are projected to reduce marginally (less than 2.5%) in 2050 and 2080 and irrigated rice yields by 7% in 2050 and 10% in 2080 scenarios. Further, wheat yield projected to reduce by 6 to 26% in 2100 and maize yields by 18 to 23%. Future climates are likely to benefit chickpea with increase in productivity (23 to 54%).

Indian Council of Agricultural Research (ICAR) has initiated a network project NICRA during 2011 to address the impact of climate change on Indian agriculture. NICRA project is being reviewed by a High Level Monitoring Committee (HLMC) under the Chairmanship of Secretary, DARE & DG, ICAR with invited members representing different Ministries, Government of India. This committee recommends measures to be taken through NICRA for making Indian agriculture more resilient to changing climate. Besides an expert committee periodically review the project and advise on various aspects.

Vulnerability assessment of Indian Agriculture to climate change is undertaken by Indian Council of Agricultural Research (ICAR). Such an assessment was for 573 rural districts of India (excluding the Union Territories of Andaman and Nicobar Islands, Lakshadweep). Based on the vulnerability analysis, 109 districts out of 573 rural districts (19% of total districts) are 'very high-risk' districts, while 201 districts are risk districts.

Under NICRA project, wheat germplasm comprising of advanced breeding lines and land races have been screened for heat/drought tolerance. ICAR-Indian Agricultural Research Institute (IARI) has released the high yielding varieties such as HD 2967 and HD 3069 which are being grown in large areas of North-West and North India. Zero till planting of wheat has advanced the wheat sowing in Punjab and Haryana.

The Indian Council of Agricultural Research (ICAR) is engaged in developing high-yielding, disease/pest resistant varieties and technologies in crops, horticulture, animal and fisheries science which have enabled food and nutritional security in the country. During the last three years, a total 638 high yielding and trait specific field crop varieties have been developed by ICAR of which 578 are climate resilient, 41 short duration and 47 biofortified varieties. Integrated Farming System (IFS) models (63 till date) developed by ICAR have the potential to enhance the income of farmers. During the last 3 years 16 IFS models, 14 bankable projects on IFS and organic farming packages for 22 cropping systems were developed. During the last 3 years, a total 77 machines and processing equipment were developed to promote mechanisation of small farms & reduce postharvest losses. Total 101 technologies for processing and on farm value addition were also developed.

The Government has undertaken several focused developmental programmes, schemes, reforms and policies towards enhancing the income of farmers. These include: Income support to farmers through PM KISAN, Pradhan Mantri Fasal Beema Yojana, Soil health card scheme, promotion of FPOs, A national Bee & Honey Bee Mission, interest subvention facilities to animal husbandry and fisheries, Pradhan Mantri Krishi Sinchayee Yojana, Micro Irrigation Fund, Agricultural Mechanisation, Setting up of e-NAM extension Platforms, introduction of Kisan Rail, & creation of Start-up Eco-system in agriculture and allied sector. All these policies and programmes are being supported by higher budgetary allocations, non-budgetary financial resources through creation of corpus funds, and supplementary income transfers under PM-Kisan. The most recent major intervention includes the 'Atma Nirbhar Bharat-Agriculture package' which includes comprehensive market reforms and creation of Agriculture Infrastructure Fund worth Rs. 1.0 lakh crores.

For providing technology support to the farming community and other stakeholders, ICAR has created the countrywide network of 722 Krishi Vigyan Kendras (KVKs). Besides the Agricultural Institutes are also supporting the farming community through schemes viz., Tribal Sub Plan, North Eastern Hill Specific Scheme, Mera Gaon Mera Gaurav (MGMG). Through these interventions, critical inputs besides training and capacity building activities are undertaken. Apart from these schemes, various other extension programmes/activities at the institute level are organised for capacity building and entrepreneurship generation of the farming community throughout the year. The Council has also established 50 Agri Business Incubators at various ICAR Research Institutes to promote entrepreneurship in agriculture among farmers & budding entrepreneurs.

Atmanirbharata in Krishi is the buzzword today towards transformation of Agriculture into a sustainable enterprise through FPOs and will enable Indian farmers to achieve global outreach thus establishing Atmanirbhar Bharat.
